

DINING ORGANIZERS DISCUSSION GUIDE

Suggested Reading by Christina Sánchez in the Los Angeles Dining Organizers Group:

Video:

Scott Heiferman "Can the Internet Fix Politics? It's Not About "Us," it's About "Let's"

Here are some questions and quotes to help spark your discussion. Your success is defined by how deeply you and your fellow diners learn and explore during the discussion—even if you only get to one question. Happy dining!

QUESTIONS

1. What is meant by engaging people in "real" ways? Have you or your organization worked to engage people offline to online in this way?
2. What do you perceive as the challenges to moving from online to offline? How can individuals "like" each other?
3. Does leadership intertwine with Scott Heiferman's idea of self organizing?
4. Whether it's a Dining Organizers Group or a babysitters collective, after they've created the meetup, what is necessary for the group to keep meeting and keep growing?
5. Is this a matter of the Internet fixing politics, or is there more to the story? What is the challenge to organizers, progressives, and advocates by Heiferman?

Remember, this isn't just an academic discussion.

Bring yourself, your beliefs, experiences, challenges and successes to this discussion!